MODERN SLAVERY

AWE is committed to continuously improving its practices to identify and eliminate any slavery and human trafficking in its supply chain, and to acting ethically and with integrity in all its business relationships.

Our “Supplier Code of Conduct” clearly sets out the standards that we expect from our potential and current suppliers, stating that AWE expect suppliers to have adequate procedures in place to ensure they are not directly or indirectly involved in any form of modern slavery. This is repeated through all AWE contractual templates, which mandates our suppliers and sub-contractors to be compliant with modern slavery legislation. These terms are updated in line with relevant legislation when appropriate and subject to ongoing review to assess the effectiveness of relevant policies and procedures.

We continue to operate with an approved suppliers list which requires all of our suppliers to confirm they are operating to the standards in the “Supplier Code of Conduct,” or they have an equivalent code of conduct including provisions to prevent modern slavery that can be provided to AWE for review at the onboarding stage, or at any time in the AWE-supplier relationship. Suppliers can also be subject to AWE audits and on-site visits from multiple subject matter experts, which could identify potential modern slavery activity.

AWE continues to be a member of the Chartered Institute of Procurement & Supply (“CIPS”) and in January 2024 received the Advanced Gold Standard accreditation, (with re-accreditation being worked towards and anticipated in January 2026). Part of the accreditation involved review and analysis of AWE’s supply chain management, which included review of Modern Slavery prevention methods and assessment of how AWE managed awareness and prevention across our suppliers and sub-contractors. Many of AWE’s supply chain professionals have completed their CIPS certification and have received training from CIPS on how to identify scenarios which may involve modern slavery.

AWE is also a member of the Supply Chain Sustainability School, which provides modern slavery awareness training, and promotes membership of the School to its suppliers. AWE also has its own internal training for employees on modern slavery, which is a mandatory part of the AWE supply chain induction.

CHILD LABOUR

All actions to avoid child labour shall be implemented by taking the child’s best interests into account. AWE requires that all suppliers shall recognise the U.N. Convention on the Rights of the Child, and that the suppliers comply with all relevant national and international laws, regulations and provisions applicable in the country of production.

Suppliers are obliged to take the appropriate measures to ensure that no child labour occurs at suppliers’ and their sub-contractors’ places of production.

If child labour is found in any place of production AWE will terminate all business with the supplier concerned.

The supplier shall effectively communicate to all its sub-contractors, as well as to its own coworkers, the content of AWE Child Labour Policy and ensure that all measures required are implemented accordingly.

ANTI-BRIBERY AND CORRUPTION

Our suppliers should act ethically and not engage in any form of corrupt practices.

AWE has a zero-tolerance approach to bribery and corruption. Suppliers must adhere to all applicable anti-bribery and anti-corruption laws and regulations in force in the UK and those countries in which they operate.

AWE also follow equivalents and standards set out in the principles from HM Treasury regarding how public money should be managed, and expect its' suppliers to operate and demonstrate compliance to equivalent principles.

Suppliers must not offer, give or accept anything of value that may be viewed as having, or has the effect of improperly influencing business decisions.

We expect our suppliers to be vigilant and be proactive in identifying fraudulent practices and the risk of fraud in their business. This includes the offer and/or receipt of any bribe or kickback to and/or from any customer, supplier or others. Specifically prohibited are facilitation payments (payments made to expedite or secure performance of routine governmental action like obtaining a visa or customs clearance), even where such activity may not violate local law.

If, as a Supplier, you are ever in doubt about a situation you find yourself in and are concerned about a possible breach of this policy or any other bribery or corruption connected with AWE, you must let us know. You may do so using any of the following channels.
